And if they are worth fighting for they are worth keeping at their gracious best.

John H. Lassen, formerly of this city, but who is now living in New Castle, Ind., and who has been employed for the past several months at the Oak Ordnance plant south of Mount Pulaski, departed the first of the week for Doniphan, Mo., to see his father, sister and brother, whom he hasn't seen for 30 years. He expects to be gone about a week.

Mrs. Elmer Hamilton of Latham visited Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Niedergesaess.

Selective Board Urges Farmers do More Fall Work

The National emergency may require the raising of some acreage of crops not previously grown in quantity in Logan county, such as flax and hemp. If this occurs it will require alterations in the usual farm program of the operation in this county, which means specifically perhaps less corn, oats beans or wheat as the case may be and more or a totally new acreage of other crops.

Therefore it is very important that all farmers do as much fall work, weather permitting, in the way of Fall plowing, the sowing of clover crops, wheat and rye, as well as to prepare for Spring work as far as possible. Your labor problem in the Spring will be far more difficult than it is now.

Are you going to back up the men who are fighting your battle at the front or do you think you can quit work when your crop is gathered this Fall? You won't have that extra labor or machinery to burn stalks with in the Spring. Do what you can now or it will be "Too little, Too late" when the harvest of 1943 is gathered.

Logan County Selective Service Board,
Richard C. Patton, chairman.

SOYBEAN CROP WAS GOOD ON RAU FARM

The Pictorial Weekly of the Mount Pulaski Times-News of several weeks ago contained a picture of a 20-acre soybean field on the farm of Linn Rau, located in the Austin township, Macon county. The soybeans, known as The Chief, were planted the last week in May, and because of the excessive moisture, part of them grew more than 6 feet high. They were planted in 28-inch rows, and cultivated with the new type cultivator. The beans have been combined and yielded 50 bushels to the acre. He had 40 acres more of soybeans that made 30½ bushels to the acre, but in this field were 8 acres where more than 3-ft. of water backed up from the lake ditch, thus cutting down a bigger average. None of the beans were damaged by the late September frost.

Mr. Rau also had 76 acres planted in hybrid corn, and it yielded as follows: 40 acres, damaged by overflow water from the lake ditch, made 50 bushels per acre; on 20 acres of clover sod, 90 bushels per acre; and on 16 acres of blue grass pasture (second year) the big average of 135 bushels per acre were obtained.

Other farmers in the same area are also getting big yields of soybeans and corn.
