

REFLECTIONS

By The Editor

Graduates may come and graduates may go, but the schools go on forever.

At least, we sincerely hope that they will.

To a great many young folks, the culmination of their high school days is the first of the many partings of the ways that will face them.

Some will be for the better, some the reverse.

Some will rejoice and some will be filled with regrets.

What at many times during the past four years looked to be the happiest moment of their life—the completion of their school period—has already begun to take on a different aspect.

Fond memories are already beginning to creep into the minds of these young people.

Memories of many pleasant events and wholesome associations;

Thoughts of friendships that have been very pleasant and agreeable;

All of which are to be disrupted as it were, and a new order of things established.

Thus, the first parting of the ways, like others to follow, is the easiest one to accustom ones self to.

For youth, ever bubbling over with enthusiasm and with a certain carelessness, quickly adapts itself to new situations.

Next fall, however, there will be some who will shed a tear or two, and perhaps be lonesome enough to want to spend a day or two with the "old bunch" at school who have not as yet passed on.

Others will have built so strongly on their entrance into new fields of studies that they will be thrilled with the prospects of new friendships and higher attainments.

And still others, perhaps compelled by necessity to go out into the world of endeavor and take up the task of providing a livelihood, having a feeling of pride in shedding their scholarly attire and meeting life's problems.

Certainly, some will have an advantage over the fellow who must begin fighting life's battles at once.

But that isn't going to determine who will win the race of life.

It is going to be the fellow who has the courage to accept the problems that confront him and accept them as they are;

And to make the best of them and fight his way out of any problems that do not fit in with his scheme of things.

To do this he must be fair with not only his fellowmen but with himself as well.

The same ethics apply in life's problems as apply to the winning of a basketball game.

Fair play, good sportsmanship and a "never-say-die" spirit.

For even though one may not reach the high pinnacle of so-called financial success that many seem to feel is necessary, it is better to fall short of this pinnacle than to attain it unfairly.

Graduates, do not try to measure your life in terms of dollars but in terms of service to your fellowmen.

While financial gain does not invariably follow such an outlook, there is a satisfaction within one's self that will mean much more to you if you have served well even tho a substantial bank account passes you by.

To this kind of a success, we bid you Godspeed.

No Shows at Theatre Sunday or Monday

There will be no shows at the Mt. Pulaski Theatre on Sunday and Monday of next week in view of the fact that the commencement activities are in full swing on these two evenings. Friday and Saturday shows this week will be held as usual and starting with the following Friday, the usual schedule of shows will be followed. Manager Buckles announce that he has some exceptionally good pictures billed for the near future.

Six Teams In Twilight League

Two More Teams Have Entered Playground Baseball League

Two new teams have joined the playground ball league and are getting in action this week for the first time. The new teams are the Hashlingers captained by Jess Stuart and the Truckers piloted by Wilbur Horn.

Last Thursday evening the Mechanics took a fall out of the West Side Butchers by a score of 15 to 8. And they were able to repeat again on Tuesday when they laid the North Side Ramblers out to the tune of 13 to 10.

Foster and Schaffnacker did the twirling duties for the Mechanics while Romer carried all of the slab duties for the Ramblers. But for a bad inning or two when the defensive play was rather dubious, the game was well played.

It was necessary to play the games this week at the baseball field instead of the high school grounds. It is hoped that all the following games will be held there as the scraped diamond and roomy outfield are much more advantageous to play on.

The new schedule for the coming games during the next few weeks is as follows:

Thursday May 2—South Side Merchants vs. West Side Butchers.

Tuesday, May 31—South Side Merchants vs. The Truckers.

Wednesday, June 1—North Side Ramblers vs. Hashlingers.

Thursday, June 2—East Side Merchants vs. West Side Butchers.

Tuesday, June 7—West Side Butchers vs. Hashlingers.

Wednesday, June 8—South Side Merchants vs. East Side Mechanics.

Thursday, June 9—North Side Ramblers vs. Truckers.

Tuesday, June 14—South Side Merchants vs. Hashlingers.

Wednesday, June 15—North Side Ramblers vs. West Side Butchers.

Thursday, June 16—East Side Mechanics vs. Truckers.

Tuesday, June 21—Truckers vs. West Side Butchers.

Wednesday, June 22—South Side Merchants vs. North Side Ramblers.

Thursday, June 23—East Side Mechanics vs. Truckers.

In a hotly contested game Wednesday evening a team captained by Wilbur Horn defeated a team captained by Jesse Stuart by a score of 16 to 14. As far as we know there were no casualties altho some of the boys have the usual sore arms.

There seems to be a good spirit of rivalry and the crowds enjoy the games immensely.

Landis Estate Sale Saturday

The partition sale of the Landis estate property conducted by Master in Chancery E. C. Mills on Saturday afternoon May 21 in the court yard in this city attracted a fair sized crowd. The property consisted of several plots of ground and residences in the city and the farm located southeast of Mt. Pulaski.

The farm was bid in by the Farmers Bank of Mt. Pulaski; J. M. Rothwell bought the residence property and two lots which joins his residence on the north in block 6 and lots 13 and 14 in block 1 all in Mason's addition; Charles Gordon was the high bidder on lots 1 and 2 and lots 10, 11 and 12 in block 2, all in Mason's addition, and Fred Mayer, Jr., bought lots 1 in block 28 in the original town.

The properties which were bought for investment and some for homesites, sold reasonable and are well worth the prices paid.

L. B. Hagenbuch Dies Suddenly

Death Came As A Shock to His Family and Host of Friends

The death of Lewis B. Hagenbuch, well known retired farmer and highly esteemed citizen which occurred in his home on West Cook street about 8:30 o'clock on Monday evening May 23, 1932, was unexpected and sudden. Although his general health was somewhat impaired following an attack of influenza several years ago, his condition was not considered serious, and his death was a severe shock to his wife, family and hosts of friends.

On Monday evening he retired shortly after passing the day in his usual manner. Shortly after he retired, Mrs. Hagenbuch became alarmed at a peculiar sound from the bed and immediately summoned Dr. F. C. Van Hook, but death had occurred before his arrival.

Lewis B. Hagenbuch was born at Tamaqua, Schuylkill county, Penn., on July 28, 1855 and died at the age of 76 years, 9 months and 25 days. His parents were Amos and Sarah Hagenbuch who came to Logan county when Lewis B. was three years of age, they settling on a farm. Farming was the occupation of Mr. Hagenbuch until 1914 when he retired from active work and moved to this city. All the years of his residence in Illinois were passed in and near Mt. Pulaski, his farming activities being conducted on the east, north and west of this city.

On Nov. 14, 1878, he was married in Lincoln to Miss Emma Pfau of this city. This estimable couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary three years ago. Decedent who was the last member of a family of eight children, is survived by his widow, two daughters at home, Misses Emma Elizabeth and Elnora, one son Walter Edward, and one grandson Walter Edward, Jr. One daughter Anna Cecelia who was their first child, preceded the father in death.

Lewis B. Hagenbuch was baptized in the Lutheran faith on Sept. 13, 1855 in his native city in Pennsylvania and was confirmed in Zion Ev. Lutheran church of Mt. Pulaski on March 27, 1870. About 1887 he transferred his member to St. John's Ev. Lutheran church.

Short funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon May 26 in the family home at 1:30 o'clock and at 2 o'clock at St. John's Ev. Lutheran church. The pastor Rev. W. N. King officiated and the music and song service was conducted by Mrs. J. H. Stuart at the organ and Miss Viola Drobisch sang two hymns, "Sometime We'll Understand," and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

The casket bearers were John Starr, Gustave Drobisch, George Suedmeier, W. B. Jenner, Emil Buehler and Frank Sellers. Burial was made in Mt. Pulaski cemetery.

W. C. T. U. Met at Hartsburg

The Spring Institute of the Logan County W. C. T. U., held in Hartsburg on Tuesday, was well attended and the meeting is said to have been highly successful in every way.

Mrs. W. N. King of Mt. Pulaski, the county president presided at the business session when reports of department heads were received. Mrs. W. E. Beach of Lincoln, vice-president, was appointed to assume the president's duties until the annual election to be held in the fall. This action was taken because of the contemplated removal from the county of Rev. and Mrs. King.

Those from Mt. Pulaski who accompanied Mrs. King to Hartsburg were: Mrs. J. T. Hershey, county treasurer, Mrs. Dan Blackford, Mrs. J. W. Rupp, Mrs. H. M. Blout, Mrs. Hester A. Evans, Mrs. John McDonald and Mrs. T. A. Scroggin.

POPPY DAY SATURDAY FOR DISABLED VETERANS

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson has issued a statement urging statewide observance of "Poppy Day," Saturday, May 28. This movement, the statement said, gives every citizen an opportunity to contribute toward the comfort of disabled soldiers. Because the funds received from sales of poppies make the lot of hopelessly crippled veterans easier, he said, the veterans' organizations sponsoring the movement should receive complete cooperation. The small compensation that the disabled men receive for making the poppies, the statement pointed out, enables these unfortunates to purchase articles that are not provided by the government.

Robert Sheets of Lincoln was in the city Saturday on business.

City Make

Historical council ing when annual $11,000 for year.

The appropriate ordinance called for $26,470 last year, but was trimmed this year to meet present conditions, down to $15,470.

The comparison of this year's financial setup with the one for 1931 will show just where the retrenchment has been made.

	1932	1931
Finances	$ 700	$12,000
Streets & Alleys	3000	7000
Fire Department	1200	1500
Police	1500	2000
Ordinance & Printing	400	500
Public Grounds, Buildings and Water Works	2500	5000
Street Lighting	3000	3500
Bonded Indebtedness	2100	2200
Public Benefit	1070	1000
Total	$15,470	$26,470

Another savings which was authorized by the voters last year will be the oiling of streets which cost taxpayers $2500.

In order to make this saving it was necessary to reduce the salaries of various officials at least for some time being, and to postpone many other projects that can for the present be eliminated.

Other matters of routine business were transacted during the meeting. A full membership of the board was present to answer the roll call of Mayor Turner.

Memorial Window Creates Much Interest Downtown

B. A. Tyler has loaned his collection of guns and other things of historical interest for a display in the window of Downing & Toulson. This is of especial interest at this time as the display includes relics of the Civil war and some previous to the Civil war.

Some of the guns are over a hundred years old and some are of the latest type. A display of this sort is of great educational value and something worth seeing. Each item has been listed and the list is posted in the window so that each piece may be identified. Included are a prefringed snake and buffalo horns from a buffalo killed in the Dakotas before the Dakotas were divided into States.

SERVICE FOR LEGION

A special Memorial service will be held at the Christian Church on Sunday morning at the regular church service hour. The local post of the American Legion will be guests at this service. The members are requested to meet at the Legion hall and march down in a body.
