Folks who are growing old in years would do well to memorize this philosophy of youth,

If they wish to remain young in spirit and enjoy life

Rather than do as the Puritans did—endure it.

BEVERLY ARMSTRONG DIED IN WOODRIVER

News of the death of Beverly Armstrong, for a number of years a resident of Lake Fork vicinity, but in recent years had been living in Woodriver, Illinois, was received by relatives and friends on Thursday, Oct. 29th. He died at his home that day, aged 56 years. Mr. Armstrong had been in failing health since 1940, and seriously ill from complications for eight weeks, which finally developed into pneumonia.

Horace Beverly Armstrong was born May 4, 1886, in Limestone county, Tennessee, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob F. Armstrong. In his early infancy the family came to Illinois and for years lived in Mount Pulaski and Elkhart townships. His parents preceded him in death.

Mr. Armstrong spent his childhood days in and around Lake Fork, and grew to young manhood there and in Mount Pulaski vicinity. He was a barber for a long period of years, and was also in the restaurant, confectionery and in business in different times, being located in Sherman, Fancy Prairie, Roodhouse and for the past 20 years in Woodriver.

During these years, "Bogg" or "Army" as he was so familiarly known to many, made a host of friends. He was a member of the Barber local union.

Decedent is survived by his wife Lillian, two sons, Clarence M. and Charles F., one daughter, Mrs. Doris Yost, and two grandchildren, all of Woodriver; and the following brothers and sisters:—Joseph Armstrong, Chestnut; Jacob Armstrong, Taylorville; Mrs. Edna Lynch and Mrs. Joe Davis of Clinton, and Mrs. Leona Barnett, Louisville, Ky.

Funeral services were held in Woodriver on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 1, and burial was in Woodlawn cemetery in that city.

LOCAL MAN FINDS BROKEN RAIL ON I.C.

Edward T. Goddard, 403 South Marion street, and a former Mount Pulaski policeman, is now in charge of the maintenance work on U. S. route 54, his territory being from Spaulding to Chestnut. This concrete highway parallels the Springfield division tracks of the Illinois Central railroad, and on Sept. 25, Mr. Goddard stepped over to the tracks at a point one-half mile west of Barclay, and in doing so discovered a broken rail. With the Chicago bound Green Diamond due in less than half hour, and the possibility of a freight train coming at any time, Mr. Goddard placed a man at the broken rail to flag trains to a stop, and then telephoned to Springfield to have section men called out on the repair job.

Mr. Goddard had done a good turn, but said little about it. But I. C. officials finally learned of his timely discovery and a few days ago he received a letter of thanks and gratitude from the Chicago office of the company.

METHODISTS HELD SCHOOL IN EVANGELISM

A 50,000 increase in the membership of the Methodist church in Illinois is the objective of a new method of evangelism without preaching, inaugurated at the First Methodist church in Springfield Monday, under the direction of Dr. Guy Black, of Nashville, Tenn., one of the executive secretaries of the church's commission on evangelism. The method consists in training ministers to be teachers of laymen, who in turn are to work with the pastors in adding new members. One hundred and sixty ministers from the 800 churches in the Illinois conference have been attending the school.

Rev. F. E. Neumeyer, pastor of the local Methodist church, attended the sessions Monday. The plan is that during the next few weeks the ministers will help each other in this Home Visitation Evangelism, and in this type of work Rev. Neumeyer had as special guests Monday and Tuesday nights, Dr. D. C. Ellinwood of Winchester and Rev. R. H. Muelder of Milford.
